Site: 139

Historic Name N/A

Year Built c. 1900

Architectural Style Prairie style

The steeply pitched side gable roof with shed roof dormer which has a projecting center gable over the deep front porch is typical of Prairie style massing. The stucco first floor and shingled second floor, along with the full width front porch with its stucco clad knee walls and pillars are also indicative of the style.

Significant Features

- Steeply pitched side gable roof with shed roof dormer with a projecting central gable with decorative bargeboard. Deep overhangs with brackets.
- Full width front porch with stucco clad knee walls and piers, central steps with stucco wing walls.
- Stucco first floor and shingle sided second floor.
- Bay window on south side with diamond pane windows. Upper floor windows with arched pattern muntins in upper sash and window trim.

Condition

The cottage appears to be in good repair with no apparent issues.
